EAGLE RADIO PRESS RELEASE

PRESS RELEASE: EAGLE RADIO'S LOCAL HEROES IS BACK FOR 2015

Eagle Radio, the number one local and commercial radio station in Surrey and Hampshire, is launching its fourth annual Local Heroes Awards.

The awards celebrate our area's community champions, from inspirational teachers to people who make a huge difference by volunteering.

There are 10 categories up for grabs, with a judging panel choosing the winners to be recognised at a celebration event at Guildford's G Live in September.

As well as awarding our Local Heroes, we are treated to a feast of entertainment at the celebration event, which in the past has included music from Lemar, Texas and Ashley Roberts.

Last year, EastEnders favourite Charlie Brooks showed her support for the event, and in particular the Young Person Award, saying: "It's a pleasure to be here. Developing young people, especially in our local area, is something that I feel is really very important."

Eagle Radio's Managing Director Paul Marcus said: "Now in its fourth year, Local Heroes is here to celebrate community champions throughout Surrey and Hampshire.

"As the nominations start rolling in, I'm always blown away by just how much fantastic work is being done locally.

"As the most listened-to local radio station in this area, I believe we have a role to play in recognising some of the work being done by the area's local heroes."

This year, we will find and recognise a new collection of Local Heroes, so if you know someone who makes your community a better place to live, then make sure you tell us all about them!
